The latest rumor is that the presidential courtship will not be officially terminated until Christmas.

Some Louisville landlords must be poor collectors. A store was closed

A petition is being circulated in Arizona for the recall of Gov. Hunt on the ground that he is incompetent in handling mining troubles.

There was never a more opportune time to elect a man who is so well versed in the daily wants of all the people as Owsley Stanley has shown himself to be.

Madame Louise Ferray, a French woman, was executed by Germans at Liege, Belgium, recently, about the time Miss Cavell was shot at Brussels.

When Stanley, Black, James and many other great defenders of democracy get through handling the poor old elephant, he will not be a fit subject for the honeyard.

The United States Supreme court has declined to take jurisdiction in the Kentucky County Unit law, which leaves the law held to be valid.

The exact number of German submarines caught in nets and sunk with all on board is now put at 67, 28 of them of the latest type. The nets are spread ahead of them by torpedo boats.

Now that the thunderous tones of the mountains have acclaimed their allegiance to the cause of Owsley Stanley and democracy, let the rest of the state acquiesce in the same way.

Mrs. Mary W. Sweeney, chairman of Home Economics of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, in an address to the High School students at Paducah, said that dishwashing is a neglected art and that modern girls are inclined to abhor it.

SAW A NEGLECTED SPECIES

Little Robbie Pointed Out One Thing Which Certainly the Fly Couldn't Do.

In the opinion of some persons, the new teacher was going almost too far in her attention to nature study.
However, the children appeared to enjoy it all, and so far no parents had made open objections to the little talks on birds, insects and flowers with which the teacher diversified the routine of school work. So all went along quite comfortably until the afternoon when the fly and the flea were up for consideration, says the Youth's Companion.

Following the teacher's lead, the children had all grown enthusiastic over the astonishing acrobatic abilities of the fly—all except Robbie May, who for some time had been staring moodily at his desk, casting only occasional glances at the teacher, and those unmistakably sullen.

It became so noticeable, by the time they were all admiring the fact that the fly can walk on the ceiling, that the teacher paused and turned to the boy.

"What is the trouble, Robbie?" she inquired. "Aren't you listening?
Aren't you interested in the talk?"
"Yes," granted Robbie, reluctantly polite. Then, warming up, "but I bet a fly can't hang by his knees, and every boy in school can do it, all 'cept Laurie Lee, and he's had the diphthery!"

BURY ST. EDMUNDS FORTIFIED

English City Has Long Figured as One of the Most Important of the Island Centers.

Germany will find no difficulty in describing Bury St. Edmunds as a fortified place. Its name gives it away. Bury St. Edmunds was known of old as St. Edmunds Bury —the castle or "strong town" of that king of East Anglia who was put to death by the Danes in 850; and so became a saint. The six pious priests who decided to perpetuate his memory were the unconscious founders of a town and an abbey that afterward became the greatest ecclesiastical establishment in all England, except Glastonbury. Leland, an eyewitness of its splendors, assures us "that the sun hath not shone on a town more delightfully situated, with a small river flowing on the eastern part, or a monastery more illustrious, whether we consider its wealth, its extent, or its incomparable magnificence."

You might indeed say that the monastery itself is a town, so many gates there are, so many towers, and a church than which none can be more magnificent; and subservient to which are three others, also splendidly adorned with admirable workmanship, all standing in one and the same churchyard.—London Chronicle.

CHEERFUL PEDESTRIANS.

Auto accidents multiply, especially on Sunday. When the machines were first introduced they seemed likely to kill all the pedestrians, but now the owners are killing themselves much faster than they are killing us. If the statistics continue we shall be ahead in the game ultimately.—Fredonia (N. Y.) Censor.

HUMANITY'S SPLENDID FUTURE.

"Don't you care for the opinions of posterity?"

"Yes," replied Senator Sorghum.
"But after eugenics produces a race of perfect human beings I don't believe that there is any chance of this generation's being able to command anything from posterity more than tolerating pity."

Mr. John Drew Better.

McLeansboro, Ill.—About 5 years ago," says Mrs. John L. Drew, of this place, "I was afflicted with pains and irregularity every month. I suffered continually, was weak and dependent, and unable to do my housework. I took Cardui, and in one month, I felt like a new woman and worked hard all summer. I am now in perfect health, and recommend Cardui to all suffering women." Every day, during the past 50 years, Cardui has been steadily forging ahead as a result of its proven value in female troubles. It relieves headache, backache, womanly misery and puts fresh strength into weary bodies. Try it.—Advertiser.

vertisement.

Polishing and Renovating.

When the furniture begins to lose its original appearance of freshness, it should be renovated. A standard polish calls for raw linseed oil, turpentine and vinegar, well shaken; but while this is really a good polish, there is danger of allowing too much of it to remain on the surface of the furniture. Remember that the office of a renovator is simply to remove dirt and grease and not to give it a new surface. Hence, when you rub with a renovator, follow it with an other rag and wipe off thoroughly.

No Longer Live Over the Shop.

Living over the shop is no longer the custom with the great West end tradesmen; they sleep in the outer suburbs. One of the very last is threatened with dispossession by the sale of the Arundell estate. For more than a century generations of Lamberts have stuck to the famous shop in Coventry street, dealing in it as silversmiths by day and sleeping over it by night.—London Chronicle.

Paris for Politeness.

Translated rather crudely and literally, this is the notice in a Paris trolley car: "Messieurs the passengers descending from the carriage are urged (literally "prayed"), before renouncing the shelter which the carriage they are about to quit offers them, to assure themselves, as a preliminary, that no carriage coming in the opposite direction is in proximity."

The Yellow Narcissus are far better than Sacred Lilies and half the cost. Metcalfe has just received an importation of these as well as all other bulbs and as usual about half city prices.—Advertisement.

PENSION GOES WITH CROSS

Most Highly Prized Decoration of the British Army Also Carries a Financial Reward.

In the original instrument, drawn up in 1856, when the Victoria cross was instituted, Rule 14 declares:

"It is ordained that every warrant officer, petty officer, seaman or marine or noncommissioned officer or soldier who shall have received the cross shall from the date of the act by which the decoration has been gained, be entitled to a special pension of £10 a year, and each additional bar conferred under Rule 4 on such warrant or petty officers or noncommissioned officers or men shall carry with it an additional pension of £5 per annum."

The Rule 4 referred to provides that when a man who holds the Victoria cross performs another act of bravery that would have entitled him to the cross if he did not hold it, he shall have a bar. Apparently the number of bars he may win is unlimited.

In 1898 an alteration was agreed to in regard to the rule about Victoria cross pensions.

"In July, 1898, it was decided that, at the secretary of state's discretion, a sum of £50 a year may be granted by way of pension in lieu of the £10 which has accompanied the V. C. since its institution."

This is a difference only in amount —a very welcome difference in some cases no doubt. It does not extend the scope of the grant, for only such men may get the £50 a year as were before entitled to the £10, seeing that the £50 is "in lieu of the £10."

ALCOHOLIC SORT.

"One of those literal chauffeur brought Mr. Jagsby home last night, considerably the worse for liquor."

"Why do you call him 'literal'?"
"Seeing a sign on the front door of the apartment house which read, 'Deliver All Packages in the Bear, that's where he left Mr. Jagsby.'"

IN DOUBT.

"What do you think of this generous system of prison discipline under which you find yourself?"

"Well," replied the prisoner, thoughtfully, "I dunno whether it's exactly considerate to put so many 'emptations in a man's way or not.'"

INTERCHANGE OF NOTES.

"In order to be a diplomat a man has to speak several languages fluently."

"I don't know," answered Senator Sorghum, "whether he has to speak fluently. But he surely has to write copiously."

HIS PREFERENCE.

"Do you like birds?"
"I am fond of a lark now and at times, but I hate a jay."
